WORK EXPERIENCE

JP Morgan Chase
02/2024 - Present
New York City, NY

Product Designer, VP

- Led the creation of cross-asset design blueprints for client e-trading platforms, defined shared components and trade lifecycle patterns used across workflows; accelerated delivery by 2x and improved consistency through reusable front and back-end patterns
- Designed the first client-facing electronic BWIC trading tool on JPM's single dealer platform (Execute), generating $2.4B in trading volume and $1.3B executed in the first half-year, with 37 MAU and 45 client demos
- Conducted contextual inquiries, observational studies, semi-structured interviews, moderated and unmoderated user testing, with front office sales and traders and external clients for JPM's macro e-trading platforms

JP Morgan Chase
10/2021 - 02/2024
New York City, NY

Product Designer, Sr. Associate

- Planned and executed the research and design for a high-profile internal macro trading platform that covers 8 asset classes, resulting in an increase in the overall workflow automation from 8.9% to 36.1%, surpassing the targeted 25%
- Led discovery for Sapphire replacement (30-year legacy rates derivatives tool): floor research with salespeople surfaced four themes that directly informed the migration to Execute
- Drove initiatives to articulate design's value proposition to senior stakeholders through demo-ing Figma's impact on cross-functional efficiency and integrating design-specific KPIs in Jira to connect design outputs to business outcomes like automation and revenue

Carnegie Mellon University
03/2021 - 08/2021
Pittsburgh, PA

InterDigital, Inc. (Capstone Project) • Design Lead

- Led the end-to-end process of designing, prototyping, and user testing multiple opportunity spaces for the future of digital media experiences by leveraging synthetic media
- Strategized and conducted generative and evaluative research to determine user needs in digital content consumption and creation experiences

Morphing Matter Lab
01/2021 - 08/2021
Pittsburgh, PA

UX Designer

- Designed and user tested the lab website and the hands-on workshop experiences with 20+ users to acquaint them with robot morphing materials
